(Boys and girls of standard VI are playing in the playground).

Siva: Hey Salim, I saw your father coming with a big parcel yesterday. I guess you could have bought a new television. Am I right?

Salim: It's not a television Siva. We bought a new computer.

Malar: Oh, I see. computer! I had seen it used in textile shop for billing.

Selvi: Malar, not only it is used in textile shops, but also in railway stations, banks, ATM's and in many places. It is used even in our local post offices.

Nancy: Hey! I have seen it in my school.

Salim: Is it only in your school? Nancy, I think your father is also having a computer.

Nancy: Is my father having a computer?! Without my knowledge? I am sure that my father does not have computer. He has only a mobile phone.

Salim: That's what I say. Your father's mobile phone is also like a computer.

Nancy: Oh no Salim? What do you mean? How can a mobile phone be compared with a computer?

Salim: Nancy, we usually think that computer should be like a big TV and a box attached with it. But computers are available in different shapes. The works which are done with a computer can also be done using a smart phone. There may be difference in their speed, but their operations remain the same. The big computers are shrunk into small smart phones nowadays because of the technological development. Most of us think that smart phones are only to make calls because of its handy look But it is not so.

Selvi: What about laptops and tablets? Are they same like the computers we usually think of?

Salim: Yes, they are all the same. There are different types of computers. But their performance vary according to their capacity.

Siva: That's ok Salim, why do you need a computer in your home? What will you do in that?

Salim: I can use it to draw, paint, play games and I can learn and develop my general knowledge.

Selvi: Salim, you know more about computers!

Salim: I know very little about computers. As my father uses computer in his office, he knows much about it. I shared very little of what I have learnt from my father.

(All the children stood up when the teacher came and stood near them)