Art of Flaking

Keeping a stone in the bottom and sharpening it with another stone.

To make a stone tool, two stones were taken.One was used as a hammer to sharpen the other for removing flakes.

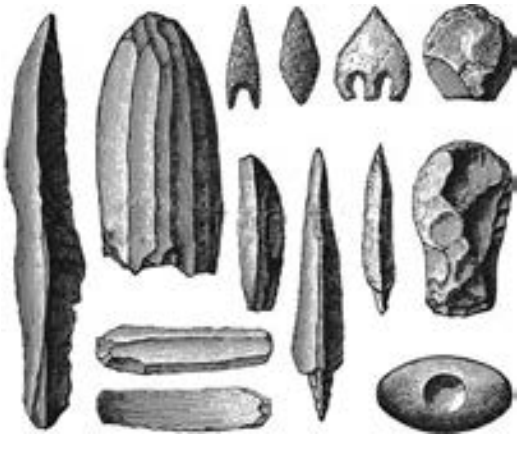

Grandma: Tamilini, do you know the weapons that the early humans used for hunting?

Tamilini: I have no idea, grandma. Can you tell me about hunting practices?

Stone Tools and Weapons

Grandma: Hunting was the main occupation of humans in the past. It was difficult for humans to kill a big animal with a stick or a stone. So they decided to use sharpened weapons.

The best stone for the making weapons was chikki – mukki kal (flint). It is known for its strength and durability. Humans spent many hours in search of a flint stone. They made sharp weapons and tools with the help of the stones and fitted them with wood to grip them. Humans created tools like axes with big stones.
