

"I was watching the TV. Yazh kept disturbing and stopped me from watching it" said Sudar.

"Studying for the test and watching television are not the same" said his father.

But Sudar was not ready to accept the fact. Sudar was consistent that he had all rights to watch a film as much as Yazh had the right to study.

His father admitted that both had equal rights. But one must not hinder another's freedom. Sudar didn't realise the fact that he was very stubborn.

"Look Sudar. You have all rights to watch the film" said his father.

"Yes dad".

"Similarly, Yazh also has the right to listen to his favourite song on TV Coundn't he?"

"How can that happen? When I watch the television he cannot do that".

"When you can watch a film by increasing its volume, Yazh can also hear music loudly." said father.

"How will I watch the movie?".

"How will Yazh study?" .

"Oh! I didn't think of it. Okay dad, I will not watch the movie while Yazh studies".

"No my child. You can watch the movie without causing trouble to anyone".

"Don't be angry Yazh. You study and I promise I will not disturb you".

Yazh smiled and patted Sudar's back and left the place.

Sudar's mother was watching everything silently. She said," Even to run a small family don't we need to follow so many rules and regulations? How much more of that will we need to administer a country?" she exclaimed.

"It is an ocean Deepa. In order to administer people who follow different religions, speak different languages and belong to different castes and culture and treat everyone equally, we need to have a good code of laws and guidelines which we call as 'The Constitution of India'.

The next day Sudar and Yazh went to school. It was the Republic Day also.

The celebration was a jubilant. The students and teachers were standing in line around the flag post. Immediately after the hoisting of the flag, a discussion was held with the chief guest for the day, Mr. Arumugam, an expert in social sciences.

"Wish you a happy Republic Day!" wished Mr. Arumugam.

"Wish you the same Sir".

"Do you know why do we celebrate the Republic Day?"

"Our Constitution was framed and came into existence from 26th January 1950. That is why every year we observe this day as the Republic Day." said the history teacher Malarmathi.
